DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1, 2 and 6-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claim 1 recites the introducer sheath as partially contacting tissue. The human body is non-statutory subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States

Claims 1, 2, 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schaer (US 6595989). Schaer discloses a device to treat tissue comprising an ablation catheter (80), an introducer sheath (50), a heater (88) disposed adjacent to the introducer sheath and a control unit for the heater.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3739

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schaer '989 further in view of Merry et al. 460. Schaer '989 teaches all of the limitations of the claims except the resistive heater being disposed on a sleeve and the sleeve being concentric with the introducer sheath. Merry et al. disclose a similar device and teach that it is old and well known in the art to provide a resistive heater (42) on a sleeve (44) which is concentric with introducer (28). The resistive heater of Merry et al. supplies energy to the exhaust gas flowing through the housing to warm the supply head for surgeon comfort. Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the heater of Schaer '989 on a sleeve concentric with the introducer as taught by Merry et al. to provide a means of warming the supply head to cater to the comfort of the user.

Claims 10, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schaer '989 further in view of Lafontaine '735. Schaer '989 teaches all of the limitations of the claims except the ablation catheter having a marker band and the specific types of cryofluid provided and a gear pump. Lafontaine discloses a similar device and teaches that it is old and well known in the art to provide a guidewire lumen to facilitate insertion of the device, a marker band to locate the device within the body and a pump to regulate the supply of fluid to the device. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a guidewire lumen, a marker band and a gear pump on the Schaer '989 device, particularly in view of the teachings of Lafontaine.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2 and 6-17 have been considered but are most in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
